

Canadians Double Score on Kinsmen in Home and Home Games

Deadlock of 3-3 at Lethbridge--7-2 at Coleman--Big Turnout to Opening Game at Local Rink--Improved Lighting Appreciated by Players and Spectators

The opener of the season in Crow's Nest Pass hockey was featured by an exhibition game between the sporty Kinsmen's Club team of Lethbridge and Coleman Canadians, in which the latter got the breaks and won easily by a margin of 7-2.

The Kinsmen opened the scoring within a minute of the face-off with Achten netting the puck on an assist from Brennen. Coleman followed up in quick succession, first by a goal by Lilya on assist from Fraser, second by Fraser on assist from Lilya, and third by a solo by Jimmy Joyce, former defence player who has moved to the forward line this season.

Gaetz of Lethbridge was penalized in the first, and Vejpreva of the Canadians twice for tripping.

The second period was scoreless, Storie, the Kinsmen goalkeeper, making many brilliant saves under a fusillade of shots. Viney and Burgess for the Kinsmen and Oliva and Fraser of the Canadians were sent to the penalty box for a minute each.

In the third play lived up, and Achten added a goal for the Kinsmen, but Coleman forced the attack and sent in four goals in quick succession, Lilya assisted by Fraser, Oliva assisted by Jenkins, Jenkins assisted by Lilya and Fraser assisted by Jenkins, making it 7-2 for the Canadians. Joyce and Oliva were in the penalty box for a minute each in the third period.

Kinsmen line-up--Storie, goal; Wilson, Burgess, defence; Achten, Brennen, Harrigan, Viney, Reynolds, Gaetz, Slovinski, forwards.

Coleman Canadians--Colongrosso, goal; Frank Vejpreva, Sonny Richards, defence; Jenkins, Fraser, Lilya, Pattinson, Oliva, Joyce, forwards.

Referee, Frank Creeggan; timekeeper, Alex. Cornett. Attendance 503.

A number of supporters accompanied the Kinsmen, and Coleman fans hope for another home and home series with this popular team from the southern city.

PIONEERS MEET AFTER HALF CENTURY

Half a century is a long way to look back and when Charlie Shaw (right) met Tom Wilson in the grounds of the Banff Springs Hotel last autumn, it was an occasion for both of them. Tom is a well-known character at the famous Rocky Mountain resort. He is the sole survivor of the Canadian Pacific's first exploration party of 1881, and was the first white man to see Lake Louise. Shaw, who makes his home in Kermon, B.C., is the sole survivor of the survey party under C. E. Perry, C.E., which located the line across the Alberta prairies. The pair met, for the only time in their lives till 1931, in 1883, when Tom was working under Major A. B. Rogers, after whom Rogers Pass is named and Charlie was with Sir Sanford Fleming's memorable expedition through the Kicking Horse Pass. What this gallant pair of veterans must have had to say to each other when they renewed their acquaintance! From the days when they toiled over mountain and plain, blating the way for the great steel gridle which now binds the provinces of the Dominion together, down to the present day, is history. Their cheery determination has been, and is, reflected in the story of the world's greatest transportation system. The mantle of responsibility has passed from Mountstephen to

Van Horne and from Shaughnessy to the broad shoulders of E.W. Beatty, chairman and president of the system. Many progressive improvements have been made. But the spirit which sent Tom and Charlie across hundreds of miles of unexplored territory remains unchanged, for the excellent reason that none better can be found.

Natal Is Proud of Its New Water System

Water Supply for East Kootenay Mining Town Tests Fine.

MICHEL, B. C., Nov. 30--Natal, B. C., can now boast a regular water system. Work on the dam and pipe lines leading to the different parts of the town has ended for the time being. Water pressure at the present time has been tested and registered at 72 pounds.

J. S. T. Appolonia, contractor from Coleman, has to be given much credit on the work done, three engineers representing the C. P. R. government and the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company, voted everything in good shape.

A banquet was held in the home of Mr. P. Zoratti, the honored guest being Mr. J. S. Appolonia of Coleman. Twenty-five guests were invited to the supper, sponsored by the trust company and catered for by Mrs. Zoratti, Mrs. Gris and Mrs. J. Oweley. Everything was done in old Italian style even to the serving of old wines. Speeches were made by a few of the leading members of the company. Songs were sung by Mr. J. Travis, J. Weich, G. Fisher, J. Appolonia and G. Ungaro. Mr. Gris in a few brief remarks explained more reasons than one in which the new water system would benefit those in business and also spoke on the work of contractor Appolonia, stating that it was a finished job.--Lethbridge Herald.

FINE GARAGE AT BELLEVUE

With commendable faith J. H. Green has rebuilt on the ashes of the old a fine new garage and service station at Bellevue. In a letter announcing the opening of the building, he states: "Our recent devastating fire has not dampened our spirits in the least, but instead has given us a new determination to go ahead."

No expense has been spared to better the repair and service facilities, and the proprietor states he has amply demonstrated his faith in the district by coming back stronger than ever. May good fortune attend him!

RINALDI-DECECCO

Popular Young People Are Wedded at Holy Ghost Church.

The wedding was solemnized at Holy Ghost church on Saturday morning of Mr. Joseph Rinaldi, popular young man of Coleman, and Miss Katherine DeCecco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeCecco, old-time residents of Coleman. The bride is a popular Coleman girl, who received her education in Coleman schools, and who last year made a trip to her old home in Italy.

The wedding party was driven to the church by Mr. J. S. D'Appolonia, the bride being attended by Miss Rose Mio, who came specially from Calgary for the wedding. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Edmund F. Lehman, and the bride was given away by her father. She was attired in a beautiful, maize-colored French satin dress, ankle length, made in Grecian style, and picture hat to match, carrying a beautiful bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore a flowered chiffon dress, in shades to match the dress of the bride, with picture hat, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Orazio Celli supported the groom. The wedding march by Mendelssohn was played by Miss Kathleen Guerdar.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where many friends called to extend congratulations to the happy couple. They will take up residence in their new home on Fifth street.

FORMER PASS MAN DIES

BELLEVUE, Nov. 25--Word was received this week from Guelph, Ont., that a former well known resident of Bellevue in the person of Adam Lorimer had passed away. He is survived by the widow and several children besides several brothers and sisters. Mrs. Ferguson of Coleman, who visited her brother just recently and arriving back in Coleman received the sad news of her brother's death. Cancer was the cause of Mr. Lorimer's death.--Lethbridge Herald.

Cars are making the trip through Crow's Nest, though it is necessary to carry shovels to get through the drifts. Many are asking why it is that the Alberta highways department does not keep the road open, when the British Columbia department has opened the road to Crow's Nest boundary line.

WHIST DRIVE AND DRAW

Remember the whist drive and draw at the parish hall next Wednesday evening, when the 10-lb turkey, goose, chicken and other articles will be drawn for, tickets now being on sale for the draw at 10c each. Admission to the whist drive will be 50c, and the committee states that good prizes and a lunch will be served. Everyone is cordially invited. The Girl Guides are selling tickets for the draw. Present Day Heroes

This is a good time to keep eyes open for heroes, writes William T. Ellis in one of his syndicated newspaper articles.

None of us ever quite grew away from our childhood admiration for heroes, but as we grow older we realize that heroes and heroines are not confined to fairy tales, or tales of fiction, or even to historic happenings of by-gone ages. There are heroes among us at all times, and in all walks of life. They are unusually plentiful at the present time.

We would, with Mr. Ellis, enumerate the brave, self-respecting families who are finding a way to carry on normally, the employers who are straining financial and mental resources to keep their workers on the payroll; the women who are magnificently bearing the heaviest burdens of all; the public leaders who are keeping their heads and bending every effort toward helpfulness.

We think of a young Scotch lad, without education, whose parents with a numerous family of young children are on the dole in the Old country who came to Western Canada some years ago and laboured as a farm hand, sending of his meagre earnings to his mother. Then came crop failures and depression, and he became one of the big army of unemployed. Coming in to one of the cities he has courageously tackled any work he could get, perhaps only a fifteen minute task, some days in succession nothing at all, but he has never whined, never lost his courage, never allowed himself to slip into bad habits. He is just as particular about the cleanliness of his person and his patched-up clothes as during better times. Some of his chums welcomed deportation back home where they could get on the dole, but not he. He refused to go back to be a burden on others, saying times would change for the better, and that opportunities in Western Canada would then be greater than in the Old Land. So he sticks, cheerfully doing his best, and never complaining. He is a hero.

There is another young man, and, thank God, there are myriads like him,—who is a victim of the times. He is an educated man, married, with a small family and his own home. When the bottom fell out of his world, he did not lose his head. Instead, he considered conditions a challenge to his capacities. Like a warrior valiantly he met his new foe, he simply knew that upon his prowess for redoubled valour. Because he has brains, he knew that it lay with himself whether he should come out of the conflict a spiritual victor or victim. That is to say, he perceived that whatever happened to his estate, the real man could not be defeated.

So with head up and a smile of confidence on his face, he has fared forth to do new battle with business. With indomitable persistence and ingenuity, he has tried one venture after another. Today, he is making a livelihood, but no more; yet he is confident that there is a good time coming. His friends do not know how severely he has been plagued. He keeps up his normal social relationships and activity. Wherever he goes, he radiates optimism. His faith in himself, in his fellow men and in his country is unshaken. He is out to get the most out of this hard experience. He is more of a man, by every standard, than he was when he held down what seemed an assured and comfortable position.

Then there are our school teacher heroines,—scores of them. Instance after instance could be recorded where a school board, confronted with the necessity of laying off one out of two teachers employed, found the one retained offering to divide her salary with the other in order that she might remain employed by the school maintained in all its efficiency. These young women are proving they are "real" teachers; not merely holding down a job in order to earn a livelihood. They are demonstrating their love of their profession; they are in their acts teaching the finest of all lessons in character and citizenship.

Yes, these are the days of heroes. Thousands of them will never be known to others; their deeds and courage may never be sung; but they are leaving an impression on their generation, and making a contribution to the present and future of their country beyond all measurement or application of any known standard of value.

Crime On Increase

Report Shows Number Of Convictions Greater During 1930

Crime increased in the Dominion in 1930 with a gain in crimes of 18.08 per cent. and 13.42 per cent. in criminals, the Bureau of Statistics reports in the 56th annual report of criminal and other offences.

Last year 22,910 persons were convicted of 28,457 indictable crimes. This compares with conviction of 21,079 persons in 1929 for 24,097 crimes. Culpable homicides reported for 1930 numbered 267, of which 115 are classified as murder and 142 as manslaughter; 54 of the murder cases were tried, resulting in 17 convictions, and of the manslaughter cases, 130 were disposed of in court with 81 convictions.

The total number of cases disposed of in the criminal and juvenile courts in 1930 was 364,415, of which 348,510 were adults and 10,905 juveniles. Convictions for indictable offences numbered 28,457, and for non-indictable offences, 308,159. Of the 10,905 juveniles, 8,425 were classified as delinquents and 2,480 were dismissed or adjourned indefinitely.

Great Memorial Is

Planned For Edison

Will Likely Be Huge Tower With Ever-Burning Light

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison has given her approval to plan sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and citizens of the Oranges and Maplewood for erection of a $1,000,000 memorial to her late husband on a promontory overlooking the home and laboratories of the dead inventor.

Plans for the memorial have not been decided upon, but it is expected that its central feature will be a huge tower, surmounted by an ever-burning light to serve the entire metropolitan area as an aviation beacon.

A nation-wide committee, with President Hoover as honorary chairman, will be organized under present plans. The committee in charge plans to form organizations throughout the world for the purpose of raising funds for the memorial.

Navigating By Old Methods

Spanish Naval Officer Will Repeat Voyage Of Columbus

To repeat the voyage of Columbus under similar conditions is the plan of an enterprising Spanish naval officer, Capt. Don Julio Guillen. A replica of the Santa Maria used at Seville Exposition in 1929 is to be used for the trip. His crew will consist of 25, as compared with Columbus' 52, but he will navigate the ship by the old methods and will not employ any equipment or instrument invented later than 1492. Twenty nations of America, as well as the League of Nations, have expressed approval of the voyage. The "Santa Maria" will carry a large stone from Palos, the starting place of Columbus' venture, to be built into the monumental lighthouse at Santa Domingo which will commemorate the discovery of America.

Proposed Calendar Changes

American Scheme Would Not Be Welcomed By Superstitionists

The superstitious will not be happy if the American scheme of revising the calendar should be adopted. Every 13th of the month would fall on a Friday, and there would be thirteen months in every year.

The scheme most favored by Britain would keep the twelve-month year, but would drop the 365th day—leaving exactly fifty-two weeks, which would facilitate the compiling and comparison of statistics. New Year's Day would always fall on Monday, as would every quarter day, and each quarter would consist of ninety-one days.

The Americans would like a year of thirteen months of twenty-eight days each. Then every day of every week would have the same date as in the preceding month.

Aid For Drought Stricken Area

Ontario Knights of Columbus To Assist Saskatchewan Farmers

A province-wide scheme to aid the sufferers in the drought-stricken areas of South Saskatchewan, is being fostered by Ontario Knights of Columbus. An appeal was broadcast to the fraternal organization for aid, in the form of donations of money, food and clothing, by the Bureau of Charities at Regina.

Twelve centres will be organized to collect and send the requirements west, with headquarters at Ottawa. Other centres are situated at Brockville, Eganville, Toronto, Guelph, Sarnia, Hamilton, Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie, Barrie, Iroquois Falls and Cobalt. The railways have agreed to ship carload lots of donations free of charge.

License For Farm Dogs

Alberta Sheep Breeders Want Protection On Flocks From Stray Dog Menace

Farm dogs in Alberta will carry license tags in future if a resolution passed at the 23rd annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal districts, which was held in Edmonton, is finally approved by the Alberta legislature. Sheep breeders, who were well represented at the sessions, stressed the need of securing adequate protection for their flocks from the dog menace. Calgary was selected as the convention city for 1932.

Lords Of Empire

Proposal To Have Overseas Dominions Represented In British House

Of Lords

A writer in the Sunday Times of London, England, would like to see the overseas Dominions represented in the British House of Lords. He urges reconstitution of Britain's Upper Chamber, permitting admission of "Lords of Parliament" from such sections of the Empire. "The statute of Westminster," he submits, "shows political union at the vanishing point. If the Dominions now have an equal voice with ourselves (the people of Great Britain) in questions affecting the succession of the throne or royal titles, they ought to be represented in some visible and closer association with the Crown. The House of Lords would be the natural medium, and one can imagine the deliberations improved, and the union of the Commonwealth strengthened, by the admission of representative Lords of Parliament for the Dominions."

There would be difficulties in the way of adoption of such a proposal. Geographical distance might be a factor in its impracticability and disfavor. It would be rather difficult for a Lord from Australia to turn up once or twice a year at Westminster.

Then, too, the idea of a central parliament for the Empire has not gained in favor in recent years. A central parliament might be one of the quickest ways to get the Empire into trouble with itself.

Furthermore, the Empire may be drifting apart only in the eyes of the pessimists. The Empire will be held together by sentiment, not by any governmental scheme.

The Imperial Conferences form a pretty effective and satisfactory means of deliberation upon Empire affairs.—Regina Leader-Post.

Might As Well Be Robot

If Everyone Lived Without Emotion As Cleveland Doctor Suggests

The very best way to lengthen your days, according to Dr. Crile, the head of the Cleveland Clinic, is to live without emotion. Love and hate "injure the body organs and lay the foundations of such diseases as diabetes, high blood pressure and heart disease," whereas mere selfishness and callousness, presumably, conduce to old age—though whether they supply the troops of ills that Shakespeare stipulates as the consolation for old age is a more doubtful proposition. It is possible, of course, that Dr. Crile is right, and that humanity would live longer if it lived as coolly as a fish. It is by no means certain, however, that those who repress their emotions escape altogether from the ills that flesh is heir to; and in any event, some of us may hold that life on such terms is hardly worth living.

Washington's Wide Streets

Plans For City Were Drawn Up On Large Scale

Washington, D.C., the United States Capital, has been called the "City of Magnificent Distances." The choice of site was made soon after the Declaration of Independence, and the plans were drawn up on a grand scale. Everything was large; the avenues were grand boulevards from a hundred feet to a hundred and sixty feet in width, and even unimportant streets were constructed ninety to a hundred feet wide.

For a Central Bank

Queens' University Professor Points To Weakness In Our Banking System

Complete overhauling of Canada's monetary structure, and the establishment of a central bank which would assume the responsibility for monetary control, were advocated by Professor C. A. Curtis, of Queen's University, in an address to the Canadian Club at Ottawa. At present, he said, no credit control existed in Canada, and its lack meant a greatly weakened monetary system.

Before the war, such control had been exercised by the banks, but the passing of the Finance Act had resulted in removing this control from the banks while it had not yet been accepted by the government. Its re-establishment was much more important than the bringing back of the Canadian dollar to par.

Professor Curtis spoke on the Canadian monetary situation, and he traced the majority of Canada's monetary troubles back to the passing of the Finance Act shortly after the declaration of war. This act, he said, permitted the Finance Department to advance Dominion notes to the banks on presentation of satisfactory collateral. Prior to the war, Dominion notes could be issued up to $30,000,000 backed to the extent of 25 per cent. by gold, but over that amount there must be dollar for dollar in gold. Consequently, at that time, a Dominion note was practically a gold certificate.

Royal Canadian Academy

Toronto Artist Wins High Praise For Portraiture

Accorded the distinction of being the best balanced show held in Canada in recent years, the 52nd exhibition of the Royal Canadian Academy was held in Montreal recently. Widely representative of the work done in practically every province of the Dominion and offering a broad range of styles, it dealt with the individual approach of the Canadian artist to his work in all its phases.

Of outstanding merit in this group were the two portraits by Mrs. Gerald of Toronto. Her "Portrait of Antimo Beneduce" is not only the most remarkable portrait of the entire exhibition, but it also can be ranked with the most serious work of contemporary artists in Europe.

We had a real setback Monday the 13th. Some five or six weeks ago we ran a list of names of "those present" at a neighborhood reunion. Three hundred and nineteen names appeared in the list. Our "setback" was that a woman called us Monday morning and told us that her name was left out of the list and she knew we left it out on purpose.—Eric Rourke.

Expect Churchill To Be Scene Of Great Activity Next Year

The proposal from prominent government official in England, that coal from England be exchanged for wheat and livestock from western Canada, as a means of increasing inter-empire trade, is considered in well-informed circles as distinctly probable, and there is every possibility the Hudson Bay route will become one of the chief avenues of international commerce if this plan is adopted.

Given even a minimum of government support, in regard to lowered insurance rates, Hudson Bay next year will be a scene of great activity. Already a number of western cattlemen have indicated their intention of shipping cattle by the Bay route. Inquiries have been received regarding feeding possibilities for cattle being shipped over the Bay line. Plenty of hay will be available in The Pas next summer, and more will be shipped to the bay port from The Pas next spring. But all efforts of western organizations and provincial governments will be a scene of great activity. The federal Government sees fit to lower insurance rates by absorbing some of the unusually high rates offered, and providing facilities for the unloading of return cargo here.

British Columbia Prunes

Best Quality Of Prunes Successfully Grown In Canada

As a result of experiments carried out in recent years at the Canadian Government Experimental Farm at Sidney, British Columbia, prunes of the best quality have been successfully grown and dehydrated. This development promises to be of importance to fruit growers on Vancouver Island, for it may mean that eventually prunes grown in British Columbia will find a ready market in Canada. The annual importation of prunes and dried plums into Canada is valued at about $1,000,000.

Spring Wheat Prizes Go To Western Canada At Chicago Grain Show

Chicago.—Of the 72 prize winners in the hard red spring wheat exhibit at the International Grain Exhibition, 68 went to Western Canada growers. One of the biggest surprises of the grain exhibition held here with the International Livestock show, came with the announcement that Herman Treile, 1930 International wheat wheat king from Wembley, Alberta, won only third place in this judging. Treile, however, won another championship in Durum wheat and was still in the running for 1931 championship honors. The Wembley grower won the first exhibit, and also placed first in timothy seed showing. C. H. Gilbert, of Big River, Sask., exhibited first prize of the hard red spring wheat.

C. P. Anderberg, of Bow River, Alberta, took the alfalfa championship to Canada, with D. J. Monroe, of Elton, Mich., winning the reserve title. Henri Lemarche, of Gasselman, Ont., exhibited first prize red clover seeds, and Albert Robbins, of Laura, Sask., took first in sweet clover.

In the intercollegiate championships, Iowa State College for the tenth time, won the livestock judging crown, amassing a total of 4,542 points. Ontario Agricultural College of Guelph, placed sixth with 4,459 points.

London.—Stepping to the aid of the British farmer, the government intends applying a quota to home grown wheat. Sir John Gilmour, minister of agriculture, announced in the house of commons. As another plank in the administration's new agrarian policy, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald said a financial resolution, authorizing customs duty on agricultural products would be introduced in the house next Monday.

The minister of agriculture said the quota would be made effective to next year's crop. He added that the government had decided to introduce a measure to reduce imports of "certain non-essential articles of agricultural produce" by means of tariff duties. This would be aimed at such early crops as peas, potatoes, lettuce, strawberries and cut flowers, which mature earlier in some countries than in Great Britain. Holland, France, Germany and Belgium ship them in considerable quantities.

No government subsidy will be involved in the wheat quota plan, Sir John said. Probable effect of the quota is difficult to forecast, but it is agreed generally that United States and Argentina farmers will be affected.

It was not specified what proportion of British wheat will be made obligatory in mixtures with foreign grain, but it has been suggested it will be 15 per cent.

China and Japan

If Japan Goes To War, She Will Commit Suicide, Says Speaker

Calgary, Alberta.—"If there is war, it will be tragedy," declared W. M. Birks, Montreal, a member of the Canadian delegation to the Institute of Pacific Relations at Shanghai, in an address here to a joint gathering of service clubs and the board of trade on the Manchurian situation. "And if Japan goes to war, she will commit suicide," he added.

Both China and Japan had rights in Manchuria, scene of present disturbances, and Mr. Birks believed a solution without warfare was imperative. Though Manchuria was a Chinese sovereignty, yet it was chiefly due to efforts of Japanese that the territory had been developed, he said in reviewing the rights of the two nations.

"When we get into trouble we have formed the habit of going west. The Slav goes east, and the Manchurian question may become a Russian question," he warned.

Mr. Birks outlined conditions in Japan and China, drawing the comparison of a highly organized nation and a loosely formed country. He also recounted work of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Martyrs To Science

Montreal Physicians Succumb To Infection Contracted In Europe

Montreal, Que.—Second victim of a mysterious infection picked up while doing research work in continental universities two years ago, Dr. Joseph B. Gallagher, surgeon attached to the Montreal General Hospital, died after long suffering. The first victim was Dr. H. Stewart, who died six months ago.

The surgeons, friends, went to Europe in 1929 to do some post-graduate work in London, Berlin and Vienna hospitals. Both returned with a mysterious infection picked up apparently in the course of their work. Both are now dead from blood poisoning.

Dr. Gallagher, a native of Barby, N.B., graduated from McGill University in the class of 1910. In 1913 he went to British Columbia acting as physician and surgeon in a railway construction undertaking until 1916. He then enlisted in the army medical corps and served overseas.

School Vacations

Some Rural Schools in Saskatchewan May Close During January and February

Regina, Sask.—"The Department of Education realizes that some rural schools may take the long vacation in 1932 during January and February," Premier J. T. M. Anderson told the press, "that is not urging this procedure where the efficiency of the school as a whole, or the progress of the senior grades will be impaired. Local conditions must guide boards of trustees in this matter."

The Premier, who is also Minister of Education, was commenting on the record made last year when more children were in school more days than at any time in the history of the province. He hoped the attainment would be duplicated this year.

Will Arrange For Business

L. S. Glass Appointed Trade Commissioner For British West Indies

Montreal, Que.—To develop trade relations between the West Indies and Canada, Lester S. Glass has been appointed trade commissioner for the British West Indies (eastern group) with offices here. The new commissioner, a member of the Canadian Trade Commission Service of the Department of Trade and Commerce, has been loaned to the West Indian Colonies for three years.

NEW DEPUTY MINISTER

Major J. C. Parmelee, who has just been made Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce. For the past few years he has been Assistant Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, and has been with that particular department for more than thirty years.

May Purchase New Bonds

Civil Workers Request Payment Be Deducted From Salary

Ottawa.—Arrangement with the government for civil servants to purchase bonds in the national service loan by regular deductions from their pay cheques will be sought by the Professional Institute of the civil service. At the concluding session of a three-day convention here, the incoming executive was asked to request inauguration of the scheme. The institute decided to buy a $1,000 service loan bond from its funds.

Dr. E. S. Archibald, superintendent of the experimental farms, department of agriculture, was installed as seventh president of the institute. Regional vice-presidents elected included Alberta and Saskatchewan, Col. P. Steele, Calgary; British Columbia and Yukon, Col. G. H. Whyte, Vancouver.

Transport Food By Plane

Workers On Prince Albert National Park Will Receive Supplies By Air Route

Prince Albert, Sask.—Aeroplane's will be used this winter to carry food from here to isolated Federal Government relief camps in Prince Albert National Park. It was learned here. The road from here to the park will not be kept open, but two R.C.A.F. Fairchild's, now at Ladder Lake, will keep the 120 miles in the various camps supplied with food.

The camps themselves are the movable variety, cabooses moved from point to point by tractors as the work of cutting the 120 miles of boundary around the park proceeds. Two weeks of supplies will be carried by each camp to provide a safety margin in case the weather is unsuitable for flying for a protracted period.

End Of Shipping Season

St. Lawrence River Route Preparing To Close For Winter Months

Montreal, Que.—The St. Lawrence River route to the sea will soon be closed for the winter season, and there is an unusual hum of activity in the ports of Montreal and Quebec as shipping men hustle to complete their chartering and loading of the last vessels before ice seals the river. No more ocean passenger vessels will come from overseas ports to Montreal or Quebec this season. Several liners will leave Montreal for Quebec and the British Isles over the week-end.

The board of harbor commissioners here hope to exceed a figure of 90,000,000 bushels of grain exported from Montreal this season, considerably in advance of the 1930 total.

MEMBERS OF TRANSPORTATION PROBE COMMISSION

Mr. Justice Lyman P. Duff, of the Supreme Court of Canada (left), has been appointed chairman of the newly launched commission to enquire into Canadian transportation problems. Among the members of the Commission is Sir Joseph Flavell (right), of Toronto. The probe is expected to commence shortly before the middle of December.

Canadian Coal May Replace U.S. Product

Tests Indicate Feasibility Says Director Of Mines Branch

Ottawa, Ont.—Results of widespread and exhaustive tests of Nova Scotia and British Columbia bituminous coal indicate the feasibility of replacing with the Canadian product a large tonnage of American coals at present utilized. It was stated by John McLeish, director of the mines branch of the Dominion Government. Mr. McLeish has just returned from the conference on bituminous coal held in Pittsburgh, Pa.

It was stated by Mr. McLeish, in this connection, that already about 60 per cent. of the total coal requirements of the Winnipeg Electric Company are being obtained from Michel, B.C., while the Montreal company is trying out a large quantity of Nova Scotia coal.

Campaign Against Drouth

Wide Interest Is Being Taken In Saskatchewan Commission

Regina, Sask.—Full and intelligent discussion of the problems of famers in the dry areas will be the chief factor in the success of the campaign against drouth now being conducted in southern Saskatchewan. Hon. J. B. Bryant, Minister of Agriculture, is chairman of the commission on conservation of water and afforestation, recently appointed.

Wide interest is being taken in the work of the commission, said Mr. Bryant, and told of a "better farming society" formed at Springwater. The society will meet at the most central point in the district every two weeks to discuss and exchange ideas.

Mr. Bryant strongly advocated this move, and states that the commission will do all in its power to assist such organizations, supplying literature, etc.

Support For National Loan

Canadian Pacific Railway Subscribes $5,000,000

Montreal, Que.—Announcement by E. W. Beatty, K.C. chairman and president, Canadian Pacific Railway, that the Company would subscribe $5,000,000 to the National Service Loan of the Dominion of Canada climaxed a day in which several large subscriptions to the loan were received.

It took the people of Canada just four days to subscribe $100,000,000 to the loan.

A further list of large subscriptions, not included in the four-day total was issued. Among these were: T. Eaton and Company, $1,000,000; Imperial Tobacco Company, $200,000; Dominion Life, $200,000; Canadian International Paper Company, $200,000; Trusts and Guarantee Company, $50,000.

Premier Bennett Is Guest At Banquet Held In London

London.—A brilliant company of 200 guests attended a dinner in Canada House tonight arranged by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner in Great Britain, for Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada, who is now in London. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, several members of his cabinet, the Lord Chief Justice, Rudyard Kipling, and two Canadian-born peers, Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Greenwood, were among the guests.

The first loaf of bread baked here from wheat exported to Great Britain from Churchill over the Hudson Bay route, was served. After announcing this fact, the Canadian high commissioner added slyly he hoped if Great Britain inaugurated a wheat quota, it would be small.

The speeches were of an informal character. The Canadian prime minister, alluding to the recent change in government here, said such circumstances made it exceedingly difficult for him to make a statement of any special interest, but at another time and place he might contribute something "to the gaiety of the nation."

Dwelling on past memories was of Ottawa, Ont.—Total population of Canada will be around 10,361,000, it was announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Friday night, November 27, based on the 1931 census returns. Figures for all the provinces have been announced with the exception of British Columbia. Quebec made the largest absolute gain in the past 10 years and British Columbia the largest percentage gain of all provinces.

A redistribution of the representation in the House of Commons will be made as a result of the census. The commons will still have 245 members after re-distribution, the same as at present. Nova Scotia will lose two members and New Brunswick one. On the other hand Alberta will gain one and British Columbia two. Representation of the other provinces will remain unchanged.

Quebec is the key province to fixing representation in the Commons. It always has 65 members and the other provinces get proportionate per capita representation. On this basis Ontario would stand to lose four members, but a clause in the British North American Act provides that a province shall not have its representation reduced if the proportion which its population bears to the aggregate population of the Dominion has not declined by one-twentieth. Complete figures will show Ontario has not declined to that proportion, and therefore will retain its 82 members as in the present parliament.

Manitoba would lose one member for the same reason. Saskatchewan grew at approximately the same rate as Quebec. Another clause covers Prince Edward Island.

Alberta Pool Officers

Entire Board of Directors Re-Elected At Annual Meeting

Calgary.—The entire board of seven directors of the Alberta Wheat Pool was re-elected at the annual meeting, attended by 70 delegates.

Henry Wise Wood, chairman of the pool since its inception in 1923, was re-elected a director representing the Red Deer division. He is expected to be re-elected chairman at the meeting of directors which will follow the close of the annual meeting of delegates sometime Friday.

Other directors elected were—Edmonton district, George Bennett, Manville; Camrose, Lew Hutchinson, Duhams; North Calgary, R. A. MacPherson; Delta; South Calgary, Ben Plummer, Bassano; Lethbridge, C. Jensen, Magrath; Claresholm, J. Jesse Strang, of Claresholm.

Long Fall Aided Farm Work

Winnipeg.—Fall plowing in all parts of Manitoba was completed because of the unusually early and upland districts, said a report issued by the provincial department of agriculture. Not in years have farmers been favored with such a warm autumn.

little avail, proceeded Mr. Bennett. The political aspect of the Empire had passed and "we shall have to substitute for it another aspect if we are to remain an Empire of free association of peoples in equal status. I see everywhere about me on this visit the same manifestations of spirit I see in my own country. By united efforts we may be able to accomplish much. "I do believe," proceeded the Canadian prime minister, "the problems which have asserted themselves during the last few months, affecting this country and my own, can be brought to a solution by the combination of your own matured intellect and our pioneer spirit."

Prime Minister MacDonald, in proposing the health of the Canadian high commissioner, spoke in terms of the highest praise the tenure of office of Mr. Ferguson. "I hope most sincerely," said Mr. MacDonald, "that through the conference to be held in Ottawa next June or July, the high ideals of which Mr. Bennett spoke tonight will be fulfilled and that from their results, the dominions and ourselves will be knit together in one splendid unity."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Purifying the "Air."

The Christian Science Monitor states editorially: "When a Boston radio station director 'pulled the plug' on an orchestra leader as he started to sing the words of a popular song, because the words were deemed unfit for home consumption, he took a step toward cleaning up radio which many Americans have considered overdue. John Clark, manager of Station WBZ, had decided that some current popular songs were going too far in their words and had established a list of banned numbers. This orchestra director knew it, but possibly through oversight started to sing the chorus of one of the barred numbers. His voice never went on the air.

Radio started as a pretty clean agent. Its spoken word content has been kept relatively clean. But the cheap song has opened up a channel through which this medium has been used subtly to infiltrate into the American home low and suggestive thoughts.

It is often too bad for our popular music that the words are what they are. Frequently the music is so lively and lilting, harmless enough in itself, that it is regrettable to spoil it with vulgar words. Mr. Clark declares he will let the music go on but that only decent words are going out over his station.

Of course, opposing interests have cried out at once, "Censorship!" And it may be necessary to work out a less arbitrary supervision, but there must be some limits to what can be put onto the air. Keeping radio clean is a responsibility of the broadcaster who is granted his license by the government to operate "in the public interest, convenience and necessity." When he is given one of the few wavelengths available at no charge, he becomes a guardian of public property and of public decency.

An interesting angle is the possibility of chain stations "censoring" programs coming from New York. If a national advertiser puts on some of these objectionable songs and the local stations "pull the plug" when the chorus is sung, the result will be amusing.

Perhaps this incident will mark a turning point in radio, which in the last few years seems to have been lowering its quality to a point where many intelligent persons will listen in on only a few specially chosen programs. Mr. Clark, of course, has been severely criticized in certain quarters, but the better-thinking elements in the community can only approve his action and admire the courage shown in taking such a stand in the face of pressure. Other stations please copy.

Local News.

The Caledonian Society held a regular meeting on Friday in the K. P. hall, at which a musical program was given, including songs by Mrs. J. McDonald of Blairmore, Archie McCulloch, George Reid, Mrs. Dan McLellan, Mrs. John Bell. Refreshments were served, bringing to a close a most pleasant evening. A feature of the evening was the dancing, old Scottish numbers being the favorites.

Friends of Archdeacon Symon of Lethbridge are greatly interested to learn of his appointment to St. Stephen's, Calgary. On various occasions he has visited Coleman and Blairmore, and his personality and frankness won him many admirers. Under his rectorship at St. Augustin's, Lethbridge, there has been marked development, which undoubtedly marked him out for a wider sphere of action.

ADVERTISING THAT ALWAYS PAYS.

A partner in a successful eastern department store some time ago told a group of business men that his many years' study of advertising had boiled itself down to the simple formula, "Find out what people want and then tell them about it."

Analyzed, this will be seen to include a whole philosophy of advertising, to be, in fact, the keystone of the arch. For, after all, one thing the consuming public always wants is honest, dependable goods. So whether it be radio sets, or cold cream, or carpets, if their quality be unimpeachable the logical way to clear them from the shelves is to tell the world about them.

Is this supported by the facts? Yes. Mr. Joseph H. Appel of the store of John Wanamaker, New York, addressing the advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce the other day, said that records for 1930 in the offices of the Advertising Federation of America showed that sixty-two companies which increased their advertising had a relative profit showing 26 per cent better than a similar group which cut their advertising appropriations.

COLEMAN JOURNAL JOB DEPARTMENT

Golf Is Golf From Coast To Coast

Golf has assumed such important proportions in the make-up of modern everyday life that it constitutes a very real phase of the activities of those who serve the public. The Canadian Pacific Railway is such a one and its train service to golf courses and established arrangements for guests at its many hotels to enjoy the game are the practical interpretation of its desire to maintain the traditions of 60 years of meeting the requirements of the Canadian people and their visitors. From coast to coast, excellent courses are available and where the company does not operate its own links, playing privileges at first-class clubs are granted. In the Maritime, there are courses at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B.; Kentville, N.S.; Digby, N.S.; and Yarmouth, N.S. all in connection with the company's hotels. Quebec City has two fine courses, one club dating back to 1874.

THE PICTURES

(1) Looking from the fairway at the golf tee, pavilion and Banff Springs Hotel, at Banff, Alta. The Spray River Golf forms a sporty water-hazard. This course is a mile above the level of the heart of the beautiful Rocky Mountains. (2) On the famous course at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B. (3) The 18th tee at the Oak Bay Golf Club, Victoria, B.C. Note the perspective to allow players a glimpse of what they have to cope with. Golf is played the year round on this course.

Montreal has the oldest club in Canada, the Royal Montreal, founded in 1873, which today boasts two championship 18-hole courses. Other Clubs are numerous and good. Toronto, too has many excellent links, including the Royal York Golf Club, where guests at the Royal York Hotel have playing privileges. Ontario abounds in courses, all along the Canadian Pacific's lines. Bungalow camps at French River and Kenora (Lake of the Woods) have sporty 9-hole courses for their patrons. Throughout the Prairie Provinces, golf is available at all the larger centres, while the Banff Springs Hotel Golf course is among the best in the country, in settings of unrivalled mountain scenery. It is the Mecca for golfers from all over Canada and the United States, to say nothing of the numerous overseas visitors who play it each summer. Vancouver and Victoria offer ready hospitality, the latter standing unique among Canadian golf centres, in that the game is played throughout the 12 months of the year, the annual mid-winter tournament for the E. W. Beatty Challenge Cup, run by the Canadian Pacific Railway, being an outstanding feature of the golf calendar.

This is an advertisement addressed to retailers in a small way of business

If you Really want a Small Business say nothing about it!

There's a story told about a retailer who certainly didn't want a big business. He was playing checkers with a crony in some place of hiding in the rear portion of his store. A customer entered. The crony said "There's Mrs. Black." "Hush," said the retailer, "If we don't make a noise, perhaps she'll go away!"

Retailers who don't want a bigger business should say nothing about it, for, if they began talking about it in the form of advertisements, they would get new customers whose requirements would just distribute them — would compel them to buy more, deliver more, work more.

Some retailers can never hope to have a big business even if they wanted one—they lack the ability, the energy, the ambition, the understanding needed to make a big business. They are content with a small business, and would be really unhappy if their business was growing rapidly as a consequence of circumstances outside their control. They would feel like a man in a wagon whose horses were running away with it!

Some retailers, however, have an urge to make their business larger. They dream of the time when they will have

The way to a bigger business is as plain as the nose on one's face; it is customer multiplication. A retailer with an urge toward bigger things should give his main thought and effort to customer multiplication one big store, or a flock of "chain" stores.

Customer attraction can be accomplished variously, but there is one essential means—press advertising. Advertisements go where personal salesmen and even letters can't hope to go, and they have a profound influence on readers of them—they soften resistance, dissolve apathy, create confidence and goodwill, and direct the steps of buyers. And they are cheap! And buyers—not sellers pay for them! Buyers always go, in largest numbers, and of their own free will, to those stores which spend a lot of money on advertising!

FOR LOCAL RELIEF—RED CROSS DANCE BY ORANGEMEN.

The Loyal Orange Lodge will hold a dance in aid of the local Red Cross on Saturday, Dec. 12 in the Oddfellows hall. All prizes, tickets and advertising has been donated towards the cause, and it is hoped the general public will be as liberal as possible in supporting this appeal. Also remember the national campaign for the Canadian Red Cross.

C. L. A. BAZAAR

The Catholic Ladies' Aid will hold a bazaar on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 10, at which there will be sold fancy goods, Christmas goods, home sewing, home cooking, etc. Tea will be served. Watch for further announcement. A whist drive will be held in the evening of Dec. 10, at 8 o'clock, in the Catholic parish hall, following the annual bazaar, to which the public is invited. Good prizes, and lunch will be served.

This reflection struck her pride—exactly as Conscience had intended it should, without doubt. Last night there had seemed to her no question about the quality that farrowed in the little screened-off alcove. There had been nothing common or “cheap” about it. The gathering incidents of the whole day, the fight through the storm, the pride of “False Trite,” all seemed to have led her by imperceptible degrees to a point where she and the Englishman could kiss at parting without shame. And now, with the morning, the delicate ruddy velvet worn by romance was rudely torn asunder, and the word “cheap” dinned in her ears like the clapper of a bell.

The appearance of her “premier dejeuner” came as a welcome distraction from her thoughts, and with the consumption of “safe au lait” and the crisp little rolls, hot from the oven, accompanying it, the whole matter began to assume a less heinous aspect. After all, argued Jean’s weak human nature, the unconventionality of the affair had been considerably tempered by the fact that the Englishman had practically saved her life during the course of the day. Alone, she would undoubtedly have foundered in the drifting snow; and when a man has rescued you from an early and unpleasantly chilly grave, it certainly sets the acquaintance between you, however short its duration, on a new and more intimate plane.

“Good-bye, little comrade; thank you for my magic moment.”

The words, and the manner of her utterance, came back to Jean, bringing with them a warm and comforting reassurance. The man who had thus spoken had not deceived her; he was too fine in his perceptions to have misunderstood like that. She felt suddenly certain of it. And the pendulum of self-respect swung back into its place once more.

Presently she would be wondering whether she would see him again before she left Montevideo. True, he had told her he was going away next day. But had he actually gone? Somewhere within her lurked a fugitive, half-formed hope that he might have altered his intention.

She tried to brush the thought aside, refusing to recognize it and determinedly maintaining that it mattered nothing to her whether he stayed or went. Nevertheless, throughout the whole day—in the morning when she made a pretence of enjoying the skating on the rink, and again in the afternoon when she walked through the pine-woods with the Varignys—she was subconsciously alert for any glimpse of the lean, supple figure which a single day had sufficed to make so acutely familiar.

But by evening she was driven into accepting the fact that he had quitted the mountains, and of a sudden Montevideo ceased to interest her; the magic that had disguised it, yesterday was gone. It had become merely a dull little village where she was a waiting Lady Anne Brennan’s answer to her father’s letter, and she grew restlessly impatient for that answer to arrive.

It came at last, during the afternoon of the following day, in the form of a telegram: “Delighted to welcome you. Letter follows.”

The letter followed in due course, two days later, the tardiness of its arrival accounted for by the fact that the writer had been moving about from place to place, and that Peter’s own letter, after pursuing her for days, had only just caught up with her.

“I cannot tell you,” wrote Lady Anne in her squarish, characteristic hand, “how delighted I shall be to have the daughter of Glyn and Jacqueline with me for a time. Although Glyn with a grown-up daughter sounds quite improbable; he never really grew up himself. So you must come and convince me that the unexpected has happened.”

Jean liked the warm-hearted, unconventional tone of the letter, and the knowledge that she would so soon be leaving Montevideo filled her with a sense of relief.

During the four days which had elapsed since the Englishman’s departure her restlessness had grown on her. Montevideo had become too vividly reminiscent of the house where she had shared together for her peace of mind. She wanted to forget that stolen day—thrust it away into the back-ground of her thoughts.

Unfortunately for the success of her efforts in this direction, the identity of the unknown which surrounded the Englishman, quite apart from anything else, would have tended to keep him in the forefront of her mind. It was only now, surveying their acquaintance in retrospect, that she fully realized how complete had been his reticence. True his figure dominated her thoughts, but it was a figure devoid of any background of home, or friends, or profession. He might be a king or a crossing-sweeper, for all she knew to the contrary—only that neither the members of the one nor the other profession are usually addicted to sojourning at Swiss chalets and forming promiscuous friendships on the ice.

There were moments when she felt that she detested this man from nowhere who had contrived to break through her feminine guard of aloofness merely to gratify his whim to spend a day in her company. But there were other moments when the memory of that stolen day glowed and pulsed like some rare gem against the even, grey monotony of all the days that had preceded it—and of those which must come after. She could not have avoided with herself, the emotions it had awakened in her. They were too complex, too fluctuating.

As she packed her trunks in preparation for an early start the following morning, Jean recoiled with satisfaction at the genuine ring of welcome which had come from England. Until she had received it, she had been the prey of an increasing disquietude with regard to suddenly blighting herself for an indefinite period upon even such an old friend of her father’s as Lady Anne—a timidity Peterson himself had certainly not shared when he penned his request.

Give my little girl house-room, will you, Anne?” he had written with that candid and charming simplicity which had made and kept for him a host of friends through all the vicissitudes of his varied and irresponsible career. “I am off once more on a wander-year, and I can’t be tripped up by a petticoat—certainly not my own daughter’s—at every day. This isn’t quite as cynical as it sounds. You’ll understand, I know. Frankly, a man whose life, to all intents and purposes, is ended, is not in company with youth and beauty standing palpitating on the edge of the world. By the way, did I tell you that Jean is rather beautiful? I forget. Let her see England—that little corner where you live, down Devonshire way, at ways means England to my mind. And let her learn to love Englishwomen—if there are any more there like you!”

And, having accomplished this characteristic, somewhat sketchy provision for his daughter’s welfare, Peterson had gone cheerfully on his way, convinced that he had done all that was paternally incumbent on him.

Madame de Varigny was voluble in her regrets at the prospect of losing her “chère Mademoiselle Peterson,” yet in spite of her protestations of dismay Jean was conscious of an impression that the Countess derived some kind of satisfaction from the imminent departure of her daughter.

She could not reconcile the contradiction, and it worried her a little. She believed—quite justly—that Madame de Varigny had conceived a real affection for her, and as far as she herself was concerned, she had considerably revised her first impressions of the other, finding more to like in her than she had anticipated, noticeably a genuine warmth and fervour of nature, and a certain kind-hearted capacity for interesting herself in other people.

And, liking her so much better than she had at first conceived possible, Jean resented the sudden recurrence of her original distrust produced by the suggestion of intimacy which she thought she detected in the Countess’s expressions of regret.

On the face of it the thing seemed absurd. She could imagine no conceivable reason why her departure should give Madame de Varigny any particular cause for complicity, which only made the impression that this was the actual feeling underlying the letter’s cordial interest in her projected visit to England.

ceivable reason why her departure should give Madame de Varigny any particular cause for complicity, which only made the impression that this was the actual feeling underlying the letter’s cordial interest in her projected visit to England.

On the morning of her departure, Jean’s mind was too preoccupied with the small details attendant upon starting off on a journey to dwell upon the matter. But, as she shook hands with Madame de Varigny for the last time, the recollection surged over her afresh, and she was strongly conscious that beneath the other woman’s pleasant, “Adieu, mademoiselle! Bon voyage!” something stirred that was less pleasant—even inimical—just as some slimy and repulsive form of life may stir amid the ooze at the bottom of a small stream.

Power of Music

Friend Wit, However, Was Some-what Out of Tune

A friend of mine, a great musical enthusiast, who is constantly uplifting himself by attendance at high-brow recitals, where a sharp flattened or a flat sharpened in the wrong place upsets him for days—has a singularly unusual wife whom he has assiduously endeavored to educate musically since the days of their engagement. Recently he persuaded her to accompany him to hear a celebrated pianist, who was giving a singularly mature, hoping that the power and the glory of the great composer might transport her into his own elysium.

During the Sonata Pathétique, which friend glanced obliquely towards his wife, and was delighted to perceive a rapt expression in her eyes. He looked more narrowly, while the look changed to one of pleasure, a smile of intense satisfaction played about her lips, and she closed her eyes in ecstacy. At last, he thought, “she is touched.”

The final chord had scarcely been played when she gripped him by the arm, and shouted above the applause: “Do you know, dear, my marmalade works out for cents a pound cheaper than last year?”—Edmonton Journal.

Praise For Canada

President Of Columbia University Evidently Admires Dominion and People

Frederick Nicholas Murray Butler, president Columbia University, New York, says: “Canada, that wondrous land, greatest gift of God to the British race, extending as it does from the rock-bound coast of Nova Scotia to the east to the golden sands of British Columbia on the west, from where the sun in his early morning march first glides the hills of Cape Breton, to where at the end of the day he lingers to kiss with ruby lips the ivory tops of the giant Rockies, 3,600 miles between wherein lie 3,600,000 square miles of smiling land, supporting a population of 10,000,000 of the noblest, whitest, cleanest, thriftiest peoples on the face of the earth.”

Advance Flower Blooms

Plants Given Longer Rest Period Bloom Much Earlier

An experiment with flower “hoods” over chrysanthemums by florists here has resulted in the blooms advancing from three to five weeks. Acting on a suggestion from the Ohio State University, the florists covered the plants with black cloth three hours before sunset each day and kept the covers on until two hours after sunrise the next day.

Giving the plants a longer period of rest each day brought about the earlier blooming, the florists said. The flowers were as large and richly colored as those cut in mid-season.

Best Time To Buy

Those who have had their hearts set on a lion will be happy to learn that, in keeping with the times, the price has been reduced. Officials at the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens report that a specimen which usually sold for $600, today may be bought for $150 or less.

Passing Of The Pillory

Form Of Punishment Discontinued In England Hundreds Years Ago

It is just a hundred and one year since the last Englishman stood in the pillory in London, England. The pillory was something like the stocks, but instead of sitting on the ground and having his feet fastened in the stocks, the prisoner in the pillory stood on a platform and had his head and hands thrust through holes in the frame.

An uncomfortable position the wretched prisoner often had to stand for many hours. The “stretchneck,” as the pillory was aptly called, was used in England for over 600 years. At first, it was used to punish tradesmen who gave short weight, but afterwards many other offences were punished in this way.

Sometimes, to make prisoners feel their pain more keenly, their heads and beards were shaved, and they were publicly whipped through the streets on their way to the pillory.

The worst part of the punishment was the insult to which offenders of one kind or another were subjected. A man in the pillory was in those days considered good sport, by some people, and the prisoner was gibed at and taunted with insults.

Sometimes, however, people came to cheer instead of to jeer. When Daniel Defoe, the author of “Robinson Crusoe,” was condemned to stand in the pillory in Chesham, the crowd decorated the framework with flowers, and sang verses which he had composed, because they believed he was being wrongly punished. The last man to be punished in this way was Peter Bosay, who stood outside the Old Bailey on June 24, 1830.

A few years later, in 1837, this barbarous punishment was abolished in England.

Ontario's Population Increase

Growth During Past Decade Is Nearly Half a Million

In ten years Ontario has had a population increase of nearly half a million people, or of the 82 electoral districts in the province only 25 show decreases during the past decade.

A census bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics gives the population, detailed by electoral district, as 3,426,488, compared with 2,933,662 in 1921.

The Maritime provinces show only a slight increase—7,994, over the 10-year period, with a total population today of 1,098,322.

New Brunswick has a population of 408,225 as against 387,876 in 1921. Nova Scotia shows a recession of 11,810 to a total of 512,027, while Prince Edward Island’s population dropped 1,463 to 18,321, the unit of representation was 37,650.

The total for the Province of Quebec has not yet been announced and will be awaited as giving a line on what the representation in the House of Commons, from each province, will be in the next parliament. What is, after the next general election, Quebec’s representation is fixed at 65, and the unit of representation for the other provinces is Quebec’s population divided by 65. Under the former census law, in 1921, the unit of representation was 37,650.

Sees Improved Conditions

London Governor Of Hudson's Bay Company Pleased With Visit To Canada

P. Ashley Cooper, of London, England, governor of the Hudson’s Bay Company, who sailed for home recently, on the White Star liner “Britannic,” said conditions in Canada are better than is generally known.

“Conditions were definitely better here than I had believed before I went there,” he said. Mr. Cooper spent two and a half months visiting the company’s branches throughout western Canada.

Speaking of tariff proposals as protection for the empire, he said: “A tariff is essential to England, not that I believe in a tariff, but we must do it to protect ourselves against the high tariff walls erected by other nations.”

The Resourceful Jew

A Jew and a Scotsman were passing in their cars when the Jew’s car swerved into the other. Seeing that the Scot was badly knocked about the Jew perked up and said: “Well, the Jew perked up the Scot to have a good drink. After a time a police constable arrived to take particulars. Upon asking whose fault it was the Jew replied, “You smell his breath.”

Plane To Race Sun

Has Been Designed By Famous German Aircraft Builder

An aeroplane to fly the stratosphere and race the sun around the earth has been constructed by Dr. Hugo Junkers, famous aircraft builder of Dessau, Germany, it was revealed at Cleveland.

The plane, designed to fly 10,000 miles an hour, was described by G. S. Vonheydekamp, a research engineer, here to attend a national clinic on metals and alloys. He recently viewed the new plane at the Junkers’ plant.

He said the craft has the appearance of the usual low-wing cabin monoplane, only that it has an exceptionally long fuselage. It is an all-metal plane, built of duralumin. To permit the engine to run in the rarified atmosphere at an altitude of more than seven miles, the air is fed to it by a compressor of new design.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaels

MEMORY

Time was he came for but a day, an hour
And then must turn from out my silent street,
Some beauty taking with him from each flower,
And leaving lark songs by a shade less sweet.
And in the intervals I saw him not.
Life, flowing, seethed and swept us far apart—
Took even the thought of him to some strange spot
I could not reach with all my longing heart.
And now he enters here no more at all.
The quiet garden never hears his tread.

He does not come to watch the bright leaves fall.
For him spring’s titany remains unsaid.
Yet, in some fashion I never to explain,
I keep him by me, never to go again!

To Speed Correspondence

Typewriter-Telegraph System To Be Installed In Homes and Offices

Spirited competition between the American Telephone and Telegraph Company on the one hand, and the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies on the other, began in a new system of local and long-distance message communication.

Automatic typewriter-telegraph instruments, with standard typewriter keyboards, will be offered for installation in homes and offices. The machines will be similar to those used for the transmission of telegraphs and for the nation-wide distribution of news by press associations.

Under the new system a subscriber to the service may signal a central operator and have his machine connected with the machine of any other subscriber, whether that person is in the next building, or on the other side of the country.

To Manufacture Typewriters

Stated That Plant Will Be Constructed Immediately In Toronto

Announcement that a plant for the manufacture of typewriters would be constructed immediately in Toronto followed the imposition of the emergency British tariff against imported manufactured goods.

The United Typewriter Company, Ltd., until now the Canadian distributing and assembling representative of the Underwood Typewriter Company of the United States, will build a plant for manufacture of these machines for export to Great Britain.

HOW SHE KEEPS HER WEIGHT DOWN

“I do not eat a meal, and therefore lead a more or less sedentary life,” writes Miss L. M. A. “I find a small dose of Kruschen Salts every morning keeps me perfectly fit and in good condition. My normal weight is 118 lbs., and having taken Kruschen Salts regularly for three years, I never put on surplus weight.”

You cannot put on superfluous flesh when you are as healthy and active as you must be if you take Kruschen Salts. Activity is the enemy of fat.

When you take vitalizing Kruschen Salts for a few days that old indolent arm-chair feeling deserts you—it doesn’t matter how fat you are—the urge for activity has got you—and you’re “stepping lively.”

And best of all you like this activity—you walk a couple of miles and enjoy it—you thought you’d never dance again, but you find you’re getting as spry as even old-timers, and your feeling reacts even your feet.

One bottle is enough to prove to you that more than anything you feel younger—spryer—more energetic—you enjoy life—every minute of it.

“The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon Him, to all that call upon Him in truth.”—Psalm cxix. 18.

The Heart’s unspoken pain He knows. The secret sighs He hears full well. What to none else thou dar’st disclose. To Him thou mayst with boldness tell.

He is not far away, but ever nigh, And answereth willingly the poor man’s cry.”—Paul Gerhardt.

The Lord can prevent trouble, or remove trouble; but what is best of all, He can sanctify troubles, making them great blessings. That is what He, out of infinite love, generally chooses to do.

India's Complex Calendar

Every Day In Week Has Several Names

To each of the 17 calendars used in India, a Hindu calendar devotes three months in preparation. It is also recorded that the earliest example known of a well authenticated week in Indian inscriptions is in a year corresponding to A.D. 484-5, the years after Buddha died. Since then the following complexity of different names of week-days has arisen, as recorded by Robert Sewall in The Indian Calendar, London—Monday has more than 12 names; Tuesday has more than 6 names; Wednesday has more than 5 names; Thursday has more than 7 names; Friday has more than 8 names; Saturday has more than 4 names.

Hired Girls and Maids

“A hired girl is fat and thick ankles. A maid is trim in figure and has pretty ankles,” says the Athlon Globe. There’s another difference, too. A “hired girl” asks smaller wages and does ever so much more work than a “maid” does, or used to when there were “hired girls.”
